

List of References

“Hypertension in developing countries: Escalating problem, few solutions”

(published in the WHL NEWSLETTER No. 79, October 2001)

by Dr. M-Elbagir K. Ahmed

College of Medicine & Medical Sciences, King Khalid University, Abha

1. Seedat YK. Hypertension in developing nations in Sub-Saharan Africa. J Hum Hypertens 200; 14:739-47
2. Ahmed, M-Elbagir K. Blood Pressure in a multiracial urban Sudanese community, J Hum Hypertens 1990; 4:621-24
3. Ibrahim MM, Rizk H, Apple LG et al. Hypertension prevalence, awareness, treatment and control in Egypt. Results from the Egyptian National Hypertension Project (NHP). NHP Investigative Team. Hypertension 1995; 26:886-90
4. Khalid M, Ali M, Ahmed, M-Elbagir K et al. Pattern of blood pressure among high and low altitude residents of Southern Saudi Arabia. J Hum Hypertens 1994; 8:765-69
5. Saeed AW, Al-Shammary FJ et al. Prevalence of hypertension and sociodemographic characteristics of adult hypertensives in Riyadh City, Saudi Arabia. J. Hum Hypertens 1996; 10:583-87
6. Ahmed, M-Elbagir K. The clinical presentation of hypertension in Sudan. Ethnicity Dis 1991; 1:288-91
7. Hussein AA, Alzubier AG and Ahmed, M-Elbagir K. Target organ involvement in hypertensive patients in Eastern Sudan. J Hum Hypertens 1999; 13:9-12

For further information, please contact:

WHL NEWSLETTER
Editorial Office
Bldg. 8 - Torhaus
Robert-Rössle-Strasse 10
13125 Berlin, Germany

phone: (+49) 30 9489 4533
fax: (+40) 30 9489 4589
e-mail: whl@mdc-berlin.de